ONLY A FEW VOTES OUT

The Republican Primaries Were Very Tame.

E. W. HILL WILL BE JUSTICE

George Olinhausen Will Be In Council From the Fourth—Niblock Won the Assessorship In the First and John Anderson In the Second.

The Republican primaries, Saturday afternoon, passed off without a ripple of excitement, and had a stranger been looking for a place to vote he would have asked many a man in vain. There was next to nothing in the way of interest, and the small number of ballots cast proves it.

The polls were advertised to open at 2 o'clock and balloting would be continued until 6 o'clock, but in East End they had matters somewhat mixed. On some tickets it was announced that the polls were open from 2 until 6 standard time, and East End went by that. The result appeared in the returns for that part of the city did not report until after 7:30 o'clock. The other precincts, however, were in long before that time, and the result was known at an hour earlier than has marked any election in this place for many a day. There was but one polling place in each ward, and so few votes cast at each of them, that the result was announced at the NEWS REVIEW within an hour after the voting ceased. There were but 775 votes cast in the city, a vote very small when it is remembered that East Liverpool polls over 3,000 when the whole town votes, and by far the greater number of these are Republicans. One politician doubtless put it right when he remarked: "We had enough voting last fall."

There were but few contests. E. W. Hill and Daniel McLane contended for the position made vacant by the death of Squire George Morley. Mr. Hill had the endorsement of Trades council, and worked hard for success, while Mr. McLane, who is a member of the Grand Army, worked equally as hard. There is no question about Mr. Hill's success at the regular election next month. He is studying law, and the position will allow him to continue his studies.

The only councilmanic contest was in the Fourth ward, where George Olinhausen, Michael McGeever and James Cochrane each worked hard for the position. There was no particular issue, but each candidate simply wanted the place. Although the vote was light, the return shows that the hardest fight for any office was made there. Mr. Olinhausen is well known in the city, having been for years connected with the Ohio Valley Gas company.

The position of assessor usually causes more or less stir, but Saturday there was little thought of it. William Niblock and George T. Blake were the candidates in the First ward, and for weeks they have been looking after their interests. Mr. Niblock won by a small margin in both precincts. In the Third there was another contest, but it excited little comment. John Anderson and R. D. Vanfossen have fought the battle before, and as at the last election Mr. Anderson won. The fight brought out more votes than would otherwise have been cast in the ward.

The vote was divided as follows: First ward—McLane 110, Hill 131; Blake 109, Niblock 135; total vote 250. Second ward—McLane 77, Hill 96; Anderson 80; Vanfossen 65; total vote 173. Third ward—McLane 49, Hill 76; total vote 127. Fourth ward—McLane 84, Hill 121; Olinhausen 90, McGeever 50, Cochrane 69; total vote 225. For township assessor Swan got 18 and Stevenson 10.

Taken all in all the election was a very quiet and tame affair.

A TICKET

Was Named by the Democrats Saturday Night.

The Democratic central committee last Saturday night completed their municipal ticket, but met with some trouble in securing a sufficient number of names to fill out the list. So many of the offices are thankless jobs, and the chance for winning is so remote that some places were left vacant. The list is as follows:

Council—First ward, Harvey McHenry; Second ward, Ed Cook. Board of education—Second ward, Alex McBane; Third ward, John Kerr. Assessors—First ward, Noah Orr; Second ward, Harvey Plankinton; Third ward, Robert Sellers.

No ticket was made out for the Fourth ward, and the vacancies in the other wards will not be filled.

A NEW OFFICER ON DUTY.

God Grant That He May Be Assigned to This City.

The Ram's Horn, in its last issue, has placed a new police officer on duty in this nation. He is a fine looking fellow, apparently every inch a man, with courage, determination and principle written in every lineament and feature of his handsome face. What's his name? Here you have it, in letters of light, as etched upon his helmet: ROUNDSMAN "PUBLIC OPINION." In his good right hand he wields a massive club, with which he hurls back the politician and the boss, and a third low character of the same class; with his muscular left hand he slaps the mouth of a bloated saloon keeper, backed by a miserable looking thug, while crouching in front of the new official is a ward heeler, a revolver dropping from his right hand, which is grasped by his left hand, his face working in pain, mixed with malice and hatred, the officer's club having evidently broken the cowardly heeler's hand, as he attempted to use his gun.

The scene is a polling place, and the officer shouts forth: "Stand back—make way for honest voters." It is a striking, forcible, speaking illustration, and is expressive of that which is a coming reality; coming, thank God, as surely as night follows day. The handwriting is on the wall. The pothouse politician, the boss, the thug, the ward heeler and the infamous saloon keeper have had their day in the history of American politics. That day has gone. "The mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceeding small." The blots and blemishes upon our body politic have been fastened thereupon like unto barnacles upon a ship's bottom; but the day of deliverance is at hand; the righteous indignation of a great nation will not be trifled with any longer; bloated brewers, purse-proud distillers, sleek, fat, well-fed and well-clad saloon keepers, barnacles all, fattening upon the sorrows and sufferings of innocent women and children, are about to be hurled from place by the hand of God, in answer to the prayers of widows and orphans, and the despairing moans of poor drunkards as they descend into an everlasting hell, "where the worm dieth not and the fire is not quenched." Read, read, read! "For no drunkard shall inherit the kingdom of God." Great God—what then shall be the fate of the drunkard maker; the man who "puts wine to his neighbors lips to make him drunken." Read again, ye men of East Liverpool, ye who are not known as distillers, brewers and saloonkeepers, but who have money invested therein on the sly, and who draw dividends from the sale of the accursed stuff; read and know your fate: "For what shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" God speed the day when roundsman "Public Opinion" may go upon duty in East Liverpool. Look out for editorial from the Ram's Horn in tomorrow's issue of the NEWS REVIEW.

DOCTOR LAUGHLIN WELL.

He Has Made Many Friends While In Cleveland.

George Grosshans returned Saturday from a visit to the principal cities of the state. George says after all he thinks East Liverpool is the best town in the state. While in Cleveland he called on Dr. F. M. Laughlin and found him perfectly well and ready to be dismissed at any day, but the doctor prefers to take a rest, and will remain for some time. The attendants say he has never given them trouble since his arrival, and he has made many friends during his stay in Cleveland.

WENT AFTER THE FIGHTERS

Doctor Littell Said Men Were Not Made to Fight.

Rev. J. R. Green did not speak at the Young Men's Christian association yesterday afternoon, his place being filled by the Rev. Dr. Littell, pastor of the First U. P. church, of Wheeling. Doctor Littell spoke from the subject, "Ignorance in Manhood," and took occasion to score the prize fight and all persons connected with it. He said that God did not make men to fight like bulls, but had for them a higher place in life.

THE KING'S BUSINESS

Evangelist Naylor's Subject Sunday Morning.

MEN—THE CRYING NEED THEREOF

Large Audiences Listen to Words of Wisdom and Warning—The Necessity of Action Respecting the Reaching and Saving of the Great Masses.

A fine audience listened to Evangelist Naylor on Sunday morning, as he expounded the teachings of the Master, in a text chosen from the first book of Samuel, 21st chapter and eighth verse: "The King's business requireth haste."

The speaker asserted that the King spoken of by David was and is an omnipotent King, all powerful, all conquering, never failing. There have been great earthly kings, men of power and might, mighty in battle and strong in wisdom and statesmanship; men who have for long years been successful upon the field of carnage and in court. But the day of their downfall and failure came at last, as it ever does in the history of finite beings, beings of earthly make, mould and fashion. But David's King and the Christian's King is the Lord of Lords; the only King who knows no such word as failure, victory always and ever perching upon his banner, the flag of the infinitely merciful God. What a wonderful being is our God, our Master, our helper and friend. Everything on earth praises this King; the daisies, the buttercups, the violets and the roses, the very blades of grass, dripping with dew drops, like unto bright and beautiful jewels, combine to sing and show forth the praises of the great giver of all good and perfect gifts.

"The King's business requireth haste." I stand on the banks of the Ohio river and see a drowning man. He cries out to me in anguish: "Oh, for God's sake throw me a rope; help! help! help!!! I am drowning." What would you think of me were I to say to the poor fellow: "I'll help you when I see the mayor, call council together and devise ways and means to accomplish your rescue?" What should I do? I'd throw off coat and vest, kick off my shoes, plunge in head foremost, seize the man by the hair, push, kick, drag or help him out in any manner possible; in other words, act as the emergency required. It makes me tired along at a slow pace chatting together, while the friends of Frederick were laying bets at odds on Holtzman. The trickery was so apparent that many of the crowd, who believed Frederick would win if he did his best, refused to be caught by the offers. The riders covered 294 miles, and Holtzman had a few feet to his credit when the race ended. For a boy, who had but commenced what promised to be a brilliant career in racing, Frederick made a serious mistake.

Afternoon Service.

The afternoon service was greeted by a packed house. The evangelist rendered "Calvary" as a solo, in splendid voice and manner, while the choir and orchestra made melody which proved a source of great delight and genuine pleasure to those assembled. Miss Emma Maple rendered a charming solo to piano accompaniment of Mrs. Dr. Jackman, after which Reverend Naylor gave an instructive talk of some fifteen minutes duration. The Pleasant Sunday Afternoon meetings are very pleasing and popular.

Sunday Night.

There was a very large audience present last night, demonstrating the fact that the interest in the evangelistic services continues unabated. The evangelist delivered an earnest, practical address, and the indications are that great good was accomplished. Five persons confessed Christ and proclaimed that their sins were forgiven.

There will be no further services held until Wednesday night next, the meeting at that occasion not commencing until 8:30, in order that those who are attending prayer meeting at their respective churches may have an opportunity of taking part. On Thursday night, the pentecostal class. Friday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, children's services. Friday night, scriptural exposition. Sunday morning next, communion and taking in of new members. Pleasant Sunday Afternoon services in the afternoon. At night, farewell address. On tomorrow night week, Tuesday, March 30, the evangelist will deliver his famous lecture entitled "Grandfather's Clock." On the next day, Wednesday, an all day jubilee, different ministers of the city taking part. You are invited.

INTO THE RIVER

Slipped a Man at the Wharf Last Night.

David Vanderslice, who is employed at a Second street store, was at the wharf last night when the Keystone came in. A misstep sent him into the river, and the current quickly carried him down stream. He called loudly for help, and a rope was thrown to him. Beyond the ducking the man suffered no inconvenience from the accident.

BAREFACED ROBBERY.

A Young Sport of East Liverpool Very Indignant.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW:—I am young in years, but not more verdant than my fellows. I take great delight in bicycling, and love to see a bike race, when on the square. "Jud" Frederick bears the reputation of being a square young fellow, a very speedy rider, with sand and pluck and staying qualities to spare. He can easily outstride Holtzman, and no one knows this better than the latter rider. But "Jud" Frederick has lost every square admirer he had in this city, and bike racing has received a blow which will knock it out for a long time to come in this city. Of course I refer to the barefaced robbery which took place at the rink on Saturday night. The fellow who put up the job and secured a number of bets from young fellows in town, and then bought the race for a few paltry dollars, is well known and cordially detested and despised, while his dirtiness and meanness will be brought home to him in a manner which will make him regret his contemptible conduct. We are not kickers nor grumblers, and you may say that, morally, we had no right to bet or gamble. We would not say a word had Frederick been beaten squarely, and we want the public to understand this. What we object to is having a cold deck run in on us. We are of the opinion that the man who arranged the plot is as much a thief and robber as if he had met us upon the highway, pistol in hand, and commanded: "Hands up; your money or your life." Yea, verily, the highway robber is a gentleman in comparison with this other sneak.

YOUNG SPORT.

A TRANSPARENT FAKE

Was the End of the Bicycle Race Saturday Night.

The last night of the four-days' bicycle race was undoubtedly the worst exhibition of fake ever seen in the city, and it will be some time before legitimate sport recovers from the shock.

When the riders started Saturday night Frederick was three laps ahead, but it soon became apparent there was something wrong. Holtzman soon caught up to him, and the riders jogged along at a slow pace chatting together, while the friends of Frederick were laying bets at odds on Holtzman. The trickery was so apparent that many of the crowd, who believed Frederick would win if he did his best, refused to be caught by the offers. The riders covered 294 miles, and Holtzman had a few feet to his credit when the race ended. For a boy, who had but commenced what promised to be a brilliant career in racing, Frederick made a serious mistake.

OPENED A MOUND.

Doctor Barnes Found Bones and Pieces of Mica.

Doctor Barnes, the Wellsville gentleman who is deeply interested in the traces of former inhabitants which yet remain in this vicinity, opened a mound on the Porter place, down the river, Saturday afternoon. The mound had evidently been used for burial purposes, as a number of small human bones were discovered. He also found several pieces of mica. The mound was clearly defined, but not high, although in length it was almost 100 feet.

DECIDED ON A SITE.

Christian Congregation Will Buy the Bradshaw Land.

The congregation of the Christian church yesterday morning finally decided to purchase the Bradshaw property for $9,500, with a $1,500 donation, which leaves the cash price $8,000. The vote stood about four to one in favor of the Bradshaw site. The lot is a peculiarly shaped one, the dimensions of which are 130x169 feet, 102x73 feet. Another meeting will be held this evening by the church board to further the arrangements.

WILL GRADUATE.

Doctor Sloan to Leave College Next Thursday Evening.

Dr. J. Howard Sloan, who has been a student in the dental college of the Western University of Pennsylvania since last September, will next Thursday graduate from that institution. There are five members in the class, and Doctor Sloan holds a high position among them. The exercises will be held in the Alvin theater in connection with the commencement of the medical department. A number of invitations have been received in this city.

MARLATT IS IN IRONS

He Will Remain Handcuffed For the Present.

A REVOLVER DIDN'T SCARE HIM

The Demon Broke Out Again, and Was Frightened by the Guard—Thrown Into a Corner He Lay There Cursing the Men Who Had Attacked Him.

COLUMBUS, March 21.—[Special.]—Ira Marlatt, the prison demon, is again on the war path, and Saturday night he was more violent than ever. From Monday until about noon Thursday he was starved, and it was thought he had about given up and he was given a good dinner. This only served him to greater devilry, and Saturday he amused himself by pounding the cell with his iron bucket. The bucket was mashed flat by the process, and the noise was becoming very annoying to the inmates of the hospital above the cell where Ira is incarcerated, and it was ordered stopped. Captain Langenberger first went to reason with the demon, but Marlatt only cursed with all his vigor. He was told that there were men in the hospital above who were almost at the point of death, and that the noise he was making was not calculated to help them any. Ira observed that they were not a bit better than he was, and he did not care.

Finally Tommy Rice and the hospital runner, Heiss, were summoned to stand at the door, and Captain Langenberger unlocked the door to go in, assailed at every moment by the most vehement and voluble curses any man ever heard. Marlatt dared a single man to set foot in his cell, but Captain Langenberger opened the door and made a rush on the demon. At first, however, thinking to intimidate the man and cause him to give up without a struggle, the captain drew his revolver, but Marlatt cared no more for it than if it was a toy popgun. The captain made a rush at him, however, and he had no more than set foot inside the door than the bent and smashed iron bucket whizzed past his head. The captain grabbed Marlatt and in an instant Marlatt was standing on his head in the corner of the cell, screaming bloody murder and calling the captain and Rice, who had grabbed him, all sorts of vile names in a blood-curdling style. While he was held Heiss rapidly placed a pair of handcuffs on Marlatt.

The bucket was not placed back and the handcuffs will be kept on him until he submits. He was not hurt by the fall he received, but, as the captain, who is a tall, strong man, lifted him to the top of the cell and slammed him into the corner with such quickness he was frightened, probably more than he ever was before. He will be starved into submission. When the men left the cell, Marlatt was still lying in the middle of the floor of the cell cursing at the top of his voice, but he soon subsided and crawled on his cot to nurse his impotent rage and contrive some way to get off the handcuffs.

OVER TWO HOURS

Were Consumed In Taking a Buggy a Short Distance.

Reddy Randolph, a well known man about town, purchased a buggy Saturday last from a Mrs. Simpson, a short distance from Peake's store. Yesterday he took a horse to the place of purchase to bring the buggy to town. The distance from Simpson's to Peake's is estimated at 700 yards, and the time consumed in covering the distance was exactly 2 hours, 9 minutes. A large crowd gathered along the route to cheer the one who volunteered his services to start the horse. They say the mud is a foot deep on the road.

LIVERPOOL DOGS

Have Been Entered In the Pittsburg Show.

Quite a number of local dogs are entered in the Pittsburg bench show which opens this week at that city. There will be taken to that city tomorrow eight fox terriers, four Irish setters, four English setters. Wedgewood Luce, a local bull terrier, which has won quite a number of prizes at various shows, is expected to wear a blue ribbon on the bench.

A Theater Party.

The leading society weekly of Pittsburg has this to say in its last issue: "Mrs. J. M. Moffat, of Center avenue, East End, gave a box party at the Alvin theater on Monday night last to see Olga Nethersole in 'Carmen.' The party was given in honor of Mrs. Moffat's visiting friend, Miss Alice Goodwin, of East Liverpool. After the play Mrs. Moffat entertained her guests at supper."

God will teach you the proper way to help your fellow sinners, if you are only willing to help.

Afternoon Service.

The afternoon service was greeted by a packed house. The evangelist rendered "Calvary" as a solo, in splendid voice and manner, while the choir and orchestra made melody which proved a source of great delight and genuine pleasure to those assembled. Miss Emma Maple rendered a charming solo to piano accompaniment of Mrs. Dr. Jackson, after which Reverend Naylor gave an instructive talk of some fifteen minutes duration. The Pleasant Sunday Afternoon meetings are very pleasing and popular.

Sunday Night.

There was a very large audience present last night, demonstrating the fact that the interest in the evangelistic services continues unabated. The evangelist delivered an earnest, practical address, and the indications are that great good was accomplished. Five persons confessed Christ and proclaimed that their sins were forgiven.

There will be no further services held until Wednesday night next, the meeting on that occasion not commencing until 8:30, in order that those who are attending prayer meeting at their respective churches may have an opportunity of taking part. On Thursday night, the pentecostal class. Friday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, children's services. Friday night, scriptural exposition. Sunday morning next, communion and taking in of new members. Pleasant Sunday Afternoon services in the afternoon. At night, farewell address. On tomorrow night week, Tuesday, March 30, the evangelist will deliver his famous lecture entitled "Grandfather's Clock." On the next day, Wednesday, an all day jubilee, different ministers of the city taking part. You are invited.

INTO THE RIVER

Slipped a Man at the Wharf Last Night.

David Vanderslice, who is employed at a Second street store, was at the wharf last night when the Keystone came in. A misstep sent him into the river, and the current quickly carried him down stream. He called loudly for help, and a rope was thrown to him. Beyond the ducking the man suffered no inconvenience from the accident.

BAREFACED ROBBERY.

A Young Sport of East Liverpool Very Indignant.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW:—I am young in years, but not more verdant than my fellows. I take great delight in bicycling, and love to see a bike race, when on the square. "Jud" Frederick bears the reputation of being a square young fellow, a very speedy rider, with sand and pluck and staying qualities to spare. He can easily outride Holtzman, and no one knows this better than the latter rider. But "Jud" Frederick has lost every square admirer he had in this city, and bike racing has received a blow which will knock it out for a long time to come in this city. Of course I refer to the barefaced robbery which took place at the rink on Saturday night. The fellow who put up the job and secured a number of bets from young fellows in town, and then bought the race for a few paltry dollars, is well known and cordially detested and despised, while his dirtiness and meanness will be brought home to him in a manner which will make him regret his contemptible conduct. We are not kickers nor grumblers, and you may say that, morally, we had no right to bet or gamble. We would not say a word had Frederick been beaten squarely, and we want the public to understand this. What we object to is having a cold deck run in on us. We are of the opinion that the man who arranged the plot is as much a thief and robber as if he had met us upon the highway, pistol in hand, and commanded: "Hands up; your money or your life." Yea, verily, the highway robber is a gentleman in comparison with this other sneak.

YOUNG SPORT.

A TRANSPARENT FAKE

Was the End of the Bicycle Race Saturday Night.

The last night of the four-days' bicycle race was undoubtedly the worst exhibition of fake ever seen in the city, and it will be some time before legitimate sport recovers from the shock.

When the riders started Saturday night Frederick was three laps ahead, but it soon became apparent there was something wrong. Holtzman soon caught up to him, and the riders jogged along at a slow pace chatting together, while the friends of Frederick were laying bets at odds on Holtzman. The trickery was so apparent that many of the crowd, who believed Frederick would win if he did his best, refused to be caught by the offers. The riders covered 294 miles, and Holtzman had a few feet to his credit when the race ended. For a boy, who had but commenced what promised to be a brilliant career in racing, Frederick made a serious mistake.

OPENED A MOUND.

Doctor Barnes Found Bones and Pieces of Mica.

Doctor Barnes, the Wellsville gentleman who is deeply interested in the traces of former inhabitants which yet remain in this vicinity, opened a mound on the Porter place, down the river, Saturday afternoon. The mound had evidently been used for burial purposes, as a number of small human bones were discovered. He also found several pieces of mica. The mound was clearly defined, but not high, although in length it was almost 100 feet.

DECIDED ON A SITE.

Christian Congregation Will Buy the Bradshaw Land.

The congregation of the Christian church yesterday morning finally decided to purchase the Bradshaw property for $9,500, with a $1,500 donation, which leaves the cash price $8,000. The vote stood about four to one in favor of the Bradshaw site. The lot is a peculiarly shaped one, the dimensions of which are 130x169 feet, 102x73 feet. Another meeting will be held this evening by the church board to further the arrangements.

WILL GRADUATE.

Doctor Sloan to Leave College Next Thursday Evening.

Dr. J. Howard Sloan, who has been a student in the dental college of the Western University of Pennsylvania since last September, will next Thursday graduate from that institution. There are five members in the class, and Doctor Sloan holds a high position among them. The exercises will be held in the Alvin theater in connection with the commencement of the medical department. A number of invitations have been received in this city.

MARLATT IS IN IRONS

He Will Remain Handcuffed For the Present.

A REVOLVER DIDN'T SCARE HIM

The Demon Broke Out Again, and Was Frightened by the Guard—Thrown Into a Corner He Lay There Cursing the Men Who Had Attacked Him.

COLUMBUS, March 21.—[Special].—Ira Marlatt, the prison demon, is again on the war path, and Saturday night he was more violent than ever. From Monday until about noon Thursday he was starved, and it was thought he had about given up and he was given a good dinner. This only nerved him to greater devilry, and Saturday he amused himself by pounding the cell with his iron bucket. The bucket was mashed flat by the process, and the noise was becoming very annoying to the inmates of the hospital above the cell where Ira is incarcerated, and it was ordered stopped. Captain Langenberger first went to reason with the demon, but Marlatt only cursed with all his vigor. He was told that there were men in the hospital above who were at the point of death, and that the noise he was making was not calculated to help them any. Ira observed that they were not a bit better than he was, and he did not care.

Finally Tommy Rice and the hospital runner, Heiss, were summoned to stand at the door, and Captain Langenberger unlocked the door to go in, assailed at every moment by the most vehement and voluble curses any man ever heard. Marlatt dared a single man to set foot in his cell, but Captain Langenberger opened the door and made a rush on the demon. At first, however, thinking to intimidate the man and cause him to give up without a struggle, the captain drew his revolver, but Marlatt cared no more for it than if it was a toy popgun. The captain made a rush at him, however, and he had no more than set foot inside the door than the bent and smashed iron bucket whizzed past his head. The captain grabbed Marlatt and in an instant Marlatt was standing on his head in the corner of the cell, screaming bloody murder and calling the captain and Rice, who had grabbed him, all sorts of vile names in a blood-curdling style. While he was held Heiss rapidly placed a pair of handcuffs on Marlatt.

The bucket was not placed back and the handcuffs will be kept on him until he submits. He was not hurt by the fall he received, but, as the captain, who is a tall, strong man, lifted him to the top of the cell and slammed him into the corner with such quickness he was frightened, probably more than he ever was before. He will be starved into submission. When the men left the cell, Marlatt was still lying in the middle of the floor of the cell cursing at the top of his voice, but he soon subsided and crawled on his cot to nurse his impotent rage and contrive some way to get off the handcuffs.

OVER TWO HOURS

Were Consumed in Taking a Buggy a Short Distance.

Reddy Randolph, a well known man about town, purchased a buggy Saturday last from a Mrs. Simpson, a short distance from Peake's store. Yesterday he took a horse to the place of purchase to bring the buggy to town. The distance from Simpson's to Peake's is estimated at 700 yards, and the time consumed in covering the distance was exactly 2 hours, 9 minutes. A large crowd gathered along the route to cheer the one who volunteered his services to start the horse. They say the mud is a foot deep on the road.

LIVERPOOL DOGS

Have Been Entered in the Pittsburg Show.

Quite a number of local dogs are entered in the Pittsburg bench show which opens this week at that city. There will be taken to that city tomorrow eight fox terriers, four Irish setters, four English setters, Wedgewood Luce, a local bull terrier, which has won quite a number of prizes at various shows, is expected to wear a blue ribbon on the bench.

A Theater Party.

The leading society weekly of Pittsburg has this to say in its last issue:

"Mrs. J. M. Moffat, of Center avenue, East End, gave a box party at the Alvin theater on Monday night last to see Olga Nethersole in 'Carmen.' The party was given in honor of Mrs. Moffat's visiting friend, Miss Alice Goodwin, of East Liverpool. After the play Mrs. Moffat entertained her guests at supper."

CINCINNATI, March 22.—The Farmers'

Loan and Trust company has sued the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern Railway company and other holders of the consolidated mortgage bonds of the

Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern company.

The trust company, as trustee of the property, conveyed to it by the Balti-

more and Ohio Southwestern company

at the time of its consolidation under

that name with the Ohio and Mississippi railway company, has certified

bonds amounting to $12,000,000 issued

to take up the outstanding bonds of the

Ohio and Mississippi Railway company,

which were a first lien on the property

of that company.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railway

company guaranteed these bonds would

be taken up by the consolidation, but

the Baltimore and Ohio company went into liquidation in February, 1896, and unable to make its guaranty good, so that the bonds of the

consolidated company by that reason and

because of the hard times have largely

declined in market value.

The Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern

company, the mortgagee, has notified

the trust company that it will not be able to pay the Ohio and Mississippi

bonds on maturity, as it contemplated,

even by the sale of the consolidated

bonds. It proposes an extension of the bonds for 50 years at 4 per cent in February, 1896, and unable to make its

guaranty good, so that the bonds of the

consolidated company by that reason and

because of the hard times have largely

Tariff Debate Commenced In the House Today.

BAILEY OR McMILLIN TO FOLLOW.

The General Debate Will Close Thurs- day Night—Bill to Be Read For Amend- ment Friday—Set Speeches at the Night Sessions.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The program of the tariff debate, which opened in the house today, is simple but arduous. The house will sit from 10 o'clock in the morning until 11 o'clock at night, with a recess from 5 until 8 each day for dinner. The general debate will close Thursday night. Beginning Friday, the bill will be read for amendment under the five minute rule until 3 o'clock on the following Wednesday, March 31, when the bill and pending amendments will be voted upon. The committee on ways and means by the terms of the special order under which the house will operate will have the right of way in the matter of amendments, and such amendments can at any time supersede pending amendments of individual members, a provision made to give the committee the fullest power to perfect their bill.

The debate was opened by Mr. Dingley, the chairman of the ways and means, for the majority. Either Mr. Bailey of Texas, the selected leader of the minority, or Mr. McMillin of Tennessee, will reply. Mr. Bailey has tendered to Mr. McMillin this privilege in deference to his long service on the ways and means committee, but it is not yet decided whether the latter will avail himself of the proffer. The night sessions of the house during the general debate will be given up almost entirely to set speeches by new members who desire to get their views in the Congressional Record for the benefit of their constituents. When the Wilson bill was under consideration the time at the night sessions was not consumed and there is likely to be a repetition of lack of speakers on this occasion, as members under the order are given leave to print many of them will take advantage of this opportunity without taking the floor.

FORECAST OF THE SENATE.

The Arbitration Treaty May Take Most of the Time This Week.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The senate will devote the major portion of the week to the consideration of the Anglo-American arbitration treaty. If the appropriation bills which have passed the house as they were agreed upon in the last session should be reported to the senate they probably will receive prompt attention.

There is a possibility that these bills may not be taken up immediately in committee owing to the absence of some committee members. It is also possible that when reported they may be somewhat changed, or if not changed in committee that they will be in the senate. Many senators have propositions which they are anxious to see enacted into law, and they are not disposed to forego this chance of getting them through. The Democratic leaders may consider it wise party policy to hold the appropriation bills up until the Republican policy in the senate with reference to the tariff is developed. Senator Allison, chairman of the appropriation committee, will exert himself to secure speedy consideration of the bills.

There is little prospect of committee work until the committee vacancies are filled. The two sides of the chamber are holding out against each other, each contending for concessions which the other refuses to make. The Democrats still insist on being allowed to fill all the places vacated by the retirement of Democratic senators, while the Republicans contend that the silver Republicans and the Populists should be charged to the Democrats. Upon the adjustment of this difference the whole matter depends. Some way out of the difficulty ultimately will be found, but the opening has not yet presented itself.

FUNERAL OF A RABBI.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Funeral service over the body of Rabbi Ignatz Grossman of Detroit have been held at the Temple Rodolph Shalom. Dr. Grossman was 73 years of age and was born in Hungary. His first charge was in Brooklyn, from which place he removed to Kansas City and from there to Detroit.

VICTIM OF A STREET CAR.

COLUMBUS, March 22.—Arthur Temple, the 8-year old son of Eugene Temple of Grogan Postoffice, a suburb of Columbus, has been run over by a street car in this city. The car had to be raised with jacks to release him. The boy was taken to St. Francis hospital, where his father was summoned to see him die.

SHERMAN APPOINTED HIS SON-IN-LAW.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Secretary Sherman has appointed Mr. J. J. McCollum, his son-in-law, clerk in charge of the indexing and codification of laws at the state department.

TO MATCH SHARKEY AND MAHER.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Dan Lynch, manager for Tom Sharkey, has posted $3,500 in the hands of "Parson" Davies to bind a match with Peter Maher.

DINGLEY'S TARIFF DISLIKED.

The Canadians Consider the Bill Hostile to Them.

MONTREAL, March 22.—Since the provisions of the Dingley tariff bill were announced the consensus of opinion seems to be that it is hostile to the interest of Canada. The lumber trade has been mostly to the front, and there has been a general demand for export duty on saw logs and all kinds of pulp wood.

The indications are that the government will accede to this demand and that the forthcoming revision of the tariff will not be so much in line of lower duties as was promised before the elections. Alderman Prefontaine, M. P., who has just returned from a conference with the ministers at Ottawa, has intimated pretty plainly that this is the case and that retaliatory duties will be imposed against the United States all along the line. An important editorial much to the same effect is published in La Patrie which is owned by Hon. J. I. Tarte, minister of public works.

"The American tariff," La Patrie declares, "constitute a Chinese wall against Canada's trade, and since this is the case Canada should govern itself accordingly. It is unfortunately only too evident that our neighbors do not wish to trade with us, consequently it behooves us to look elsewhere for them. Great Britain and our sister colonies offer us a market that can be utilized to the greatest advantage."

WATCHING FOR FILIBUSTERS.

Spaniards Prepared to Capture a Big Expedition to Cuba.

HAVANA, March 22.—There is great activity among the troops and the warships that are guarding the northern coast, and all the ports there have been reinforced with the object of capturing an expected expedition.

The insurgents are very effective in the east, west and north. There has been hot fighting in Santiago, Matanzas and Pinar del Rio. General Garcia attacked Jiguani with two rapid fire guns, knocking over the forts and killing a major, a captain and many privates. The Cuban loss was 14.

It is reported that an expedition has landed on the west end of the island.

General Gomez is reported to be on the west side of the Moron trocha. Railroad travel is very unsafe. Trains out of Havana are frequently fired on.

The feeling in Havana against paper money is increasing. The Spanish merchants are growing louder in their complaints and confidence in the government's ability or intention to redeem the paper is lessening. Five dollars in gold is worth $8.90 in paper. This state of affairs worries the palace more than the fighting.

GERMANY IS CELEBRATING.

A Monument to Old Emperor William Unveiled This Morning.

BERLIN, March 22.—Germany is celebrating the centenary fetes today.

The main event was the unveiling of the great national monument to the memory of William I. The unveiling ceremonies took place during this forenoon, the program having been drawn up under the personal supervision of the emperor.

Under a magnificent tent with embroidered hangings, which was erected in front of the Schloss facing the monument, the royal personages attending the ceremonies were advantageously placed.

The emperor left the castle on horseback, briefly reviewed the troops and then lead a select body of them, bearing the colors and flags, to the place in front of the monument.

During the ceremony the monument showed on both sides the colors and flags taken in 1871, and these were surrounded by a circle of cannon taken from the French and ornamented with oak leaves.

DR. SWALLOW'S CHARGES.

He Reterrates Them on the Witness Stand—Captain Boyer's Denial.

HARRISBURG, March 22.—Dr. Swallow testified in his own behalf in the libel suit Saturday. He swore that he had been informed, on what he supposed was reliable authority, $400 had been paid for a flagpole at the Scotland Industrial school, which was offered to be put up by a Harrisburg party for $40.

He had also been told that a span of horses had been purchased for the same institution for about $300, which could have been bought for $100, or at most, $150.

He said Presiding Elder Evans told him a bar was maintained at the Scotland school for members of the commission.

Witnesses also testified the same. Captain Boyer denied he had accepted $25 in a deal for harness, while the dealer said he gave him $25, but it was not a bonus.

GENERAL FULLERTON KILLED.

A Train Wrecked on the B. & O. In Maryland.

CUMBERLAND, Md., March 22.—No. 2 Baltimore and Ohio limited, eastbound, jumped the track and rolled down an embankment into the Youghiogheny river, two miles from Oakland, a Saturday. General J. S. Fullerton, a St. Louis capitalist, was killed and a dozen others more or less badly injured.

The wounded are: M. D. Phelps and wife, Darro, N. Y., wife seriously hurt. Charles S. Martin, Salina, Kan., slightly injured in the arm. W. R. Fuller, Pullman conductor, right side seriously injured. Jeremiah Houston, Davis, Va., side hurt. Mrs. James Hanlin, Carpenter, O., nervous shock. J. D. Richards, Ft. Scott, Kan., neck and back sprained. J. D. Kuppenheimer, 1726 Madison avenue, New York, scalp wound. George H. Sanders, Alaska, W. Va., slight scratches on head and hip.

Great Flood at Quincy.

QUINCY, Ills., March 22.—The flood waters from the north have now reached this point and this section of the Mississippi is now booming.

The Weather.

Increasing cloudiness and rain, with severe thunder storms; southeasterly winds, becoming variable; colder to night.

Senator Quay Returns.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Senator and Mrs. Quay and Lieutenant Quay have returned to Washington.

FIGHTING IN ARMENIA.

Many Armenians and Turks Reported Killed.

SERVIA GIVES TURKEY A SCARE.

The Manoeuvres on the Frontier Causing Turkish Officials Much Anxiety—The Blockade In Force About Crete—Greek Sharpshooters Fire on the Turks.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 22.—Reports have been received here of very serious disorders at Tokat, in the Siv district of Asia Minor. It is said that many Armenians and Turks have been killed. As yet there are no details as to the exact cause of the outbreak.

The city of Tokat is on the Yeshil-Irmak river, and has a population of about 60,000. The government has established extensive works there for refining the copper produced by the mines of Arghana-Maden, near Diarbekir. It is in the heart of the old province of Armenia.

The action of the Servian government in calling the reserves and part of the militia to the colors to participate in manoeuvres in the Turkish frontier has caused much anxiety in Turkish official circles. The Porte has instructed the railway companies to keep sufficient rolling stock in readiness to convey troops immediately, if necessary, to the Servian frontier. Fifteen battalions are being prepared for the troops in the mosques and other public buildings of the city.

CANEA, Crete, March 22.—The situation in Crete may be described as one of expectancy. The fact that the blockade had formally begun was generally communicated from Canea to all points in the island in the telegraphic circuit. Pillaging still continues. Three Turkish soldiers who were caught in the act of pillage at Halepa fired on the gendarmes, who returned the fire, killing one of them.

Some doubt is now expressed by the officials here as to whether Colonel Vassos, commander of the Greek forces in Crete, will be able to hold out long, owing to the scarcity of provisions. It is also denied by the officials that there is friction between the admirals and the consuls.

ATHENS, March 22.—Some of the Greek sharpshooters at Pramanda opened fire on the Turks, and it was only by the most

consolidated mortgage bonds of the

Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern company.

The trust company, as trustee of the

property, conveyed to it by the Balti-

more and Ohio Southwestern company

at the time of its consolidation under

that name with the Ohio and Mississippi railway company, has certified

bonds amounting to $12,000,000 issued

to take up the outstanding bonds of the

Ohio and Mississippi Railway company,

which were a first lien on the property

of that company.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railway

company guaranteed these bonds would

be taken up by the consolidation, but

the Baltimore and Ohio company went into the hands of a receiver in February, 1896, and unable to make its

guaranty good, so that the bonds of the consolidated company by that reason and because of the hard times have largely declined in market value.

The Baltimore and Ohio South-western company, the mortgagee, has notified

the trust company that it will not be able to pay the Ohio and Mississippi

bonds on maturity, as it contemplated,

even by the sale of the consolidated

bonds. It proposes an extension of the bonds for 50 years at 4 per cent and the plaintiff asks the advice of the court in the interest of the holders of the bonds,

payment of which will default unless such extension is granted.

Reduction In Wages.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 22.—The American Tube and Iron company, manufacturers of wrought iron and steel tubing, posted notices at their works Saturday notifying their employees of a general reduction of 10 per cent in wages. The order goes into effect Monday, March 29. Three hundred and fifty hands are affected. The firm says sharp competition in business

made it necessary to reduce wages in order to keep the mills in operation.

Will Not Build This Year.

AKRON, O., March 22.—There is now

no probability that the Canton-Akron

Electric railroad will be built this year.

Application for a franchise has been made by W. A. Lynch of Canton and others and a date was set for the hearing of the same. Now Mr. Lynch has written Auditor Sisler an early date is not desired. He intimates that the company will not be ready to go ahead

until next year.

Not a Passenger Injured.

NILES, O., March 22.—The Baltimore and Ohio express ran into an open switch here and collided with a train of box cars. The switch had been opened by unknown persons, for what purpose is unknown. Had the express not, contrary to custom, stopped

for water a short distance from the switch, a horrible catastrophe would have been the result. Not a passenger was injured.

Shot Over a Bill.

MARION, O., March 22.—Dick Ruth

and William H. Stallsmith became in-involved in a dispute over a bill here.

Stallsmith fired five times, three of the balls entering Ruth's side. His recovery is doubtful.

SIXTEEN MORE SAVED.

An English Steamer Picked Up More of the French Vessel's Crew.

NEW YORK, March 22.—The officials of the Campagne Generale Transatlan-tique have satisfied themselves that the English steamer Vanavea has really picked up 16 of the survivors of the French line steamer Ville de St. Nazaire.

The Officers of the Kaiser Wilhelm

II said there was no doubt in their minds that the Nanareva had picked up the Nazaire survivors, although there had evidently been a mistake in the signals. This was undoubtedly the message intended to be sent. "Vanavea. I have sixteen, City of St. Nazaire, French."

Tariff Debate Commenced In

the House Today.

BAILEY OR M'MILLIN TO FOLLOW.

The General Debate Will Close Thursday Night—Bill to Be Read For Amendment Friday—Set Speeches at the Night Sessions.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The program of the tariff debate, which opened in the house today, is simple but arduous. The house will sit from 10 o'clock in the morning until 11 o'clock at night, with a recess from 5 until 8 each day for dinner. The general debate will close Thursday night. Beginning

Friday, the bill will be read for amendment under the five minute rule until

3 o'clock on the following Wednesday,

March 31, when the bill and pending amendments will be voted upon. The committee on ways and means by the terms of the special order under which the house will operate will have the right of way in the matter of amendments, and such amendments shall be made by time superseding pending amendments of individual members, a provision made to give the committee the fullest power to perfect their bill.

The debate was opened by Mr. Dingley,

the chairman of the ways and means committee, for the majority. Either Mr.

Bailey of Texas, the selected leader of the minority, or Mr. McMillin of Tennessee, will reply. Mr. Bailey has tendered to Mr. McMillin this privilege in deference to his long service on the ways and means committee, but it is not yet decided whether the latter will avail himself of the proffer. The night sessions of the house during the general debate will be given up almost entirely to set speeches by new members who desire to get their views in the Congressional Record for the benefit of their constituents. When the Wilson

bill was under consideration the time

at the night sessions was not consumed

and there is likely to be a repetition of lack of speakers on this occasion, as members under the order are given leave to print many of them will take advantage of this opportunity without taking the floor.

RELIEF FOR MEMPHIS

Gives Arkansas a More Destructive Flood.

RUSHING THROUGH CREVASSES

In the Mighty Mississippi—Levees No Obstruction at Many Points—The River Falling at Memphis—Hardly a Dry Spot at Marion, Ark.

MEMPHIS, March 22.—For the first time in many weeks the Mississippi river is reported falling at Memphis. Several reports between Osceola, Ark., and Memphis and the fall of the river here is attributed to these crevasses. The break at Sans Souci is widening and the mad rush of waters through the opening can be heard for miles. Three additional breaks, all near Sans Souci, are reported and the suffering of the people in Eastern Arkansas will surely be greatly intensified.

The condition of the levees south of Memphis is about the same. A dispatch from Vicksburg says that the reported crevasse at Modoc, Ark., near Helena, is confirmed by officers of the steamer State of Kansas and by dispatches received at Vicksburg. The levee at Modoc has been considered in a hopeless condition for several days. The water will run into White river very fast and will find its way into the Mississippi in a day or two. Levees south of Vicksburg are reported to be in better shape, but a decline is reported of one to four inches along the Cahoon county (Miss.) levee, where the struggle against the high water has been most desperate. The Kansas also reported breaks lower down, but these are probably protection levees. The officers of the Kansas say that the scenes along the shores of the big river from Memphis south everywhere show the general anxiety. Lights are shining along the levee and guards and inspectors are covering every inch of the territory.

The river continues to rise at all points south of and at Vicksburg. The railroad situation at Memphis is somewhat better. The Yazoo and Mississippi Valley is sending its trains to New Orleans, the tracks between Memphis and Lakeview having been raised above the water level. The Illinois Central south and the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham east are running trains on time. The Memphis and Charleston, Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis roads are moving local passenger trains, but the former cannot go beyond the Big Hatchie river while the latter road cannot cross the Tennessee. Railroad communication with Nashville is entirely cut off.

The Iron Mountain tracks on the west side are still above water, and all roads entering the city from that direction are moving passenger trains over the mountain tracks. Over in Arkansas the town of Marion is in a bad condition. All the houses are surrounded by water and the whole face of the earth is submerged, except here and there a small Indian mound that is above water. There are many breaks in the levee or at least many places where the water is running over the levee like a mill race. The water is also pouring over the Kansas City railway at three places in the town and possibly at more. At these places the current is exceedingly rapid and the waves roll and dash eight and ten feet high. No other loss of life is reported.

SIX VICTIMS OF JEALOUSY.

A Missouri Farmer Shot His Wife, Four Others and Himself. RICHMOND, Mo., March 22.—A tragedy resulting in the death of five members of one family is reported from Orrick, a small village 35 miles south of here. B. Rainwater, a farmer, shot and killed his wife, his mother-in-law, Mrs. William Artman, his brother-in-law, James Thurman, and his little stepdaughter, Ethel Gentry. Then, after so nearly exterminating a whole family, the murderer blew off the top of his own head, dying instantly.

The tragedy occurred at the house of William Artman, Sr., father-in-law of the murderer. Mrs. Rainwater had recently left her husband, and, with Ethel Gentry, a daughter by a former husband, had sought shelter at the home of her parents. Rainwater is reported to have been insanely jealous of his wife, and it is believed that he visited the Artman home with the express purpose of killing the whole family.

Otis Don't Get the Place.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Colonel Otis of California, the president's warm friend, will not be assistant secretary of war because he lives in the Pacific coast state. Attorney General McKenna's appointment prevented it.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

Harry Murphy, assistant general manager of the Western Transit company, died in Buffalo, after a brief illness. He was one of the best known steamboat men on the upper lakes.

Word was received in New York that John King, former president and later receiver of the Erie railroad, died at Beaulieu, near Nice, France, on March 17. His wife and daughter were with him when he died.

Hon. F. M. Stone, president of the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust company, died at his home in Waltham, Mass. His death was hastened by worry over the defalcation of Frank C. Miles of the Boston Safe Deposit and Savings company. He leaves a wife and two sons.

Saturday was the ninety-third anniversary of the birth of Neal Dow, father of prohibition. The great reformer passed the day quietly at his home in Portland, Me. He received a great many letters and telegrams of congratulation, and numerous callers paid their respects to him.

At Salem, Mass., the Naumakeg steam cotton mills started on full time, giving employment to about 1,500 men.

The Clyde window glass factory at Frankton, Ind., has been closed pending the settlement of the differences between the workmen and the company in regard to the refusal of the men to set pots after 5 o'clock p. m.

President McKinley, after an investigation of the charges made against Commissioner Lamoreaux of the general land office, decided that they were without foundation and that he had acted within the scope of his authority in his decision of the Chicago lake front case.

GOV. BRADLEY TO RESIGN.

A Part of His Plan to Become Senator and Beat Hunter.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 22.—Gov. Frank Bradley has told two friends in his office that no matter what is the result of the present senatorial fight he will resign the office of governor immediately after the expiration of the present extra session.

He declined to discuss the matter, but told another friend the same thing. That such is his intention has been known to your representative for several weeks, but that he does not want to authorize the statement as yet is emphasized by his evident annoyance that what he confided to his friends had become public.

However, the few politicians who have heard the story say that the governor's intention having become public may result in making more probable his election over Hunter tomorrow or Wednesday. They argue that the chief reason why the gold Democrats refuse to go into a coalition to elect Bradley is that it would fence the gubernatorial election this fall, which they have their own reasons for not wanting done.

Prominent politicians from all over the state are arriving here to take part in the fight for and against Hunter, the nominee, and Bradley who refuses to be deposed by even the influence of the national administration.

GOV. PINGREE WON'T RESIGN.

He Finally Decides Not to Run For Mayor of Detroit.

DETROIT, March 22.—Governor Pingree will not resign the governorship and will not be a candidate for mayor of Detroit at the special election, April 5. This negative program was decided upon at a meeting of the governor and several of his advisers.

The "old man," as his excellency is familiarly called by his followers, wanted to vindicate himself as against the supreme court decision in ousting him by permitting the Republicans to nominate him for mayor, believing he would be triumphantly re-elected. Most of his advisers at the meeting, however, especially those from other parts of the state, insisted that it was his first duty to remain governor until the end of the term, and not permit Lieutenant Governor Dunstan to succeed him.

After hours of discussion the chief gradually came around to this view. The meeting finally decided to recommend that the city convention nominate Captain Albert E. Stewart, a Detroit vessel owner and member of the legislature, to succeed Pingree as mayor. The Republican convention had adjourned until today to await Pingree's wishes, and the Democratic city convention adjourned until tomorrow in order to learn what the Republicans were going to do.

LOCOMOTIVE BOILER EXPLODED.

Engineer and Fireman Killed—Passengers Didn't Even Hear the Explosion.

CHICAGO, March 22.—The boiler of the locomotive which was hauling the Chicago and Boston special on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad has blown up, instantly killing the engineer and fireman and completely demolishing the engine.

The dead are: Alexander Franks, engineer, of Chicago. Edward B. Smith, fireman, of Chicago.

The engineer was hurled 200 feet into the air, through a net work of telegraph wires that were stretched along the tracks and had his right leg torn off. The fireman was thrown against a cattle car and instantly killed.

None of the remainder of the train crew nor any of the passengers were injured.

A peculiar feature of the explosion was the fact that although the report was so loud it was heard by residents a half mile away and the force so great that the engine was literally blown to atoms, none of the passengers in the rear part of the train heard the report, and were not aware that anything unusual had happened until they looked out after the train had come to a sudden stop.

THE RUIZ INVESTIGATION.

It Will Soon Commence and Sherman Thinks It Will Be Fair.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—It is expected by the state department officials that the inquiry to be conducted into the causes leading up to the death of Dr. Ruiz, the naturalized American in a Cuban prison, will soon be commenced. The investigation will be conducted in Havana, or in the place where Ruiz was imprisoned and Consul General Lee will be present in person or will be represented by some one to look after the interests of the family of Dr. Ruiz.

Secretary Sherman expresses the belief that the investigation into the affair will be a thorough and fair one, assurances to that effect having been given by the Spanish government.

Cuban President Reported Dead.

HAVANA, March 22.—It is reported from Camaguey that Salvador Cisneros, president of the Cuban republic, is dead, that Vice President Bartolomeo Maso succeeds him as president and that Dr. Capot, ex-professor of Havana university, will be appointed vice president.

Charles Scott Released.

HAVANA, March 22.—Charles Scott, the American against whom the military court at Guanabacoa preferred charges, which were subsequently dismissed, has been released. He will probably leave for the United States on Wednesday next.

A Dinner to Dubois.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—A number of silver members of both senate and house will give a dinner to ex-Senator Dubois tomorrow evening as a compliment to him for the work he has done in the interest of silver.

Facts are Forceful.

In business building, facts you demand of us; facts we shall give you, money saving facts, most of them. That's what makes them interesting. Its the ring of honesty in our "ads" that brings people to our store. Investigation follows, our goods are compared with the statements made about them; being found as represented a pleased patron is the result. The store news is of uncommon interest just at this time, dealing as it does with the many lots of fresh spring merchandise.

Handsome Black Weaves

fresh from the factory. Handsome brocades with glossy mohair figures, standard weaves of many sorts, all priced for quick selling.

Serges 34 inches wide, all wool, good black, 25c, and as good or better than anything we have sold at this price. Our 50c serge is 50 inches wide, and an excellent value. Black satin solid, we have never had one at less than $1 per yard before, but the one we mention is 36 inches wide, 50c a yard. Mohairs with large patterns, very desirable for skirts, 50c, 75c, 85c and $1. These are but a few of the good things in our black dress goods stock.

Colored Dress Stuffs.

Hardly know where to begin. This fact, however, stands out prominent: your buying will be easy. No better time than now to make a selection.

Among them we would call attention to one number in checks, all wool, 50 inches wide, in four colors, black and white, blue and white, brown and white, green and white, price 60c. Another line of checks at 70c that from appearance you would judge to be a good deal more money, and still another at 25c, 34 inches wide, some all wool, some part wool, and all excellent values.

38 inch silk and wool goods, in all the new coloring, and spring shades, at 75c and 90c.

New Kid Gloves.

Would like you to try a pair of our gloves. Believe if you did that hereafter you would buy every pair from us.

Two clasp gloves, heavy embroidery, in reds and medium browns, 4 button gloves, in blue, green, tan, brown, mode, cream and better colors, with self and black stitching; also black, in lacing and button, all at $1. We believe we have the strongest line of gloves in town at the price.

Black 4 button suede, also 4 button and 5 hook lacing are some of the styles we show at $1.50. Try a pair of our gloves.

Ready Made Sheets and Pillow Cases

almost as cheap as you can buy the muslin; then why bother making them yourself, or hire them made when you can buy them ready for use?

We have the sheets in plain hemmed and also hemstitched, in 9-4 and 10-4, and the cases in 42 and 45 inches.

Chicago Corset Waists.

in white, steel grey and black. We have the agency for them in East Liverpool. Don't be put off by buying something just as good, but get the genuine article from us. Price $1.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Samuel Burford has moved here from Tiffin.

Motorman Gus Brandenburg is off duty owing to illness.

The grand jury of Hancock county met at New Cumberland today.

Will George is today moving his household goods to East Palestine.

The people were orderly Saturday night. The police did not make an arrest.

Passenger travel on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh this morning was unusually heavy.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Anderson, East End, will entertain friends tomorrow evening.

Bicyclers were out in force Saturday evening, and several small accidents occurred.

The mission band, of the First M. E. church, Saturday evening gave a very pleasant box social in Ferguson & Hill hall.

The street force are today cleaning Sixth street. It is said the street sweeper will make its appearance in the near future.

There was an unusually large crowd of people on the streets early Saturday evening, and it required all the time of Officer Whan to keep them on the move.

Hundreds of people crossed the bridge to the Virginia side yesterday, and the pleasant weather filled the streets of the city during the afternoon and evening.

Secretary Charles, of the Young Men's Christian association, and M. K. Zimmerman were the special speakers at the Salvation Army barracks last evening.

The Yellow Kid orchestra is the name of a new musical organization, which will meet for rehearsal this evening. It is composed of small boys, but they make very good music.

The county roads are drying up in a manner most gratifying, and if the spring weather continues farmers believe the annual plague will not be as long drawn out as usual.

Reverend Naylor officiated at the funeral of Elijah Reed, which took place at the Methodist Protestant church yesterday afternoon. The Red Men had charge of the ceremonies.

The Sons of Veterans will hold their annual reception tomorrow evening in Grand Army hall. A special program has been arranged, and after it is carried out refreshments will be served.

The township trustees say they are prepared to prove that there were three destitute families at Walker, notwithstanding the statement published in an unreliable downtown sheet to the contrary.

If the party who lost his vest on Fourth street last Saturday afternoon will call on Mrs. Annie Wade, 110 Huston addition, he can recover his property. The lady found the package on the street.

The rains of the past few days have had a tendency to raise the river to a stage of 17 feet, but the waters are now receding slowly. Shippers fair. Passed up, Ben Hur, Kanawha and Keystone State.

A number of members of the Christian church, loaded down with well filled baskets, surprised Professor and Mrs. Reed at their home in Woodlawn avenue the other evening. All spent a few hours delightfully.

At the First Presbyterian church last evening Doctor Lee delivered a sermon in behalf of the American Bible society, and the collection which followed showed the interest manifested in the work of that organization.

Two well known women of Seventh street Saturday afternoon amused the neighborhood by indulging in a wordy war. The lie was passed several times, but the intervention of spectators prevented a hair pulling match.

A pleasant event, Saturday evening, was the reception given by the Aid society of St. Aloysius church to Mrs. Daugherty, of Wheeling. A large number were present. A dainty lunch was served.

The city engineer and a corps of assistants are at work today making needed improvements upon the sewers and flush tanks. The latter have been out of order for some time, and it is expected that from now they will be placed in first class condition.

The reason why storekeepers should not take up more than four feet of the sidewalks was aptly illustrated Saturday afternoon. A lady was passing a stack of weights when her dress caught and a large piece was torn out. She left the place in a frame of mind not at all enviable.

The prospects for a good run in the potteries continue, and a well known gentleman connected with the industry said he would not be surprised if the amount of ware made in this place between the present and the summer rest would be more than that made in the same period of any previous year.

SHOE BARGAINS

RELIEF FOR MEMPHIS

Gives Arkansas a More Destructive Flood.

RUSHING THROUGH CREVASSES

Is the Mighty Mississippi—Levees No Obstruction at Many Points—The River Falling at Memphis—Hardly a Dry Spot at Marion, Ark.

MEMPHIS, March 22.—For the first time in many weeks the Mississippi river is reported falling at Memphis.

Several breaks in the levee are known to have occurred between Osceola, Ark., and Memphis and the fall of the river here is attributed to these crevasses. The break at Sans Souci is widening and the mad rush of waters through the opening can be heard for miles. Three additional breaks, all near Sans Souci, are reported and the suffering of the people in Eastern Arkansas will surely be greatly intensified.

The condition of the levees south of Memphis is about the same. A dispatch from Vicksburg says that the reported crevasse at Modoc, Ark., near Helena, is confirmed by officers of the State of Kansas and by dispatches received at Vicksburg. The levee at Modoc has been considered in a hopeless condition for several days.

The water will run into White river very fast and will find its way into the Mississippi in a day or two. Levee men say the effect will be merely temporary, but a decline is reported of from one to four inches along the Coahui county (Miss.) levee, where the struggle against the high water has been most desperate. The Kansas also reported breaks lower down, but these are probably protection levees. The officers of the Kansas say that the scenes along the shores of the big river from Memphis south everywhere show the general anxiety. Lights are shining along the levee and guards and inspectors are covering every inch of the territory.

The river continues to rise at all points south of and at Vicksburg.

The railroad situation at Memphis is somewhat better. The Yazoo and Mississippi Valley is sending its trains to New Orleans, the tracks between Memphis and Lakeview having been raised above the water level. The Illinois Central south and the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham east are running trains on time. The Memphis and Charleston and Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis roads are moving local passenger trains, but the former cannot go beyond the Big Hatchie river while the latter road cannot cross the Tennessee. Railroad communication with Nashville is entirely cut off.

The Iron Mountain tracks on the west side are still above water, and all roads entering the city from that direction are moving passenger trains over the mountain tracks.

Over in Arkansas the town of Marion is in a bad condition. All the houses are surrounded by water and the whole face of the earth is submerged, except here and there a small Indian mound that is above water. There are many breaks in the levee or at least many places where the water is running over the levee like a mill race. The water is also pouring over the Kansas City railway at three places in the town and possibly at more. At these places the current is exceedingly rapid and the levee roll and dash eight and ten feet high. No other loss of life is reported.

SIX VICTIMS OF JEALOUSY.

A Missouri Farmer Shot His Wife, Four Others and Himself.

RICHMOND, Mo., March 22.—A tragedy resulting in the death of five members of one family is reported from Orrick, a small village 35 miles south of here. B. Rainwater, a farmer, shot and killed his wife, his mother-in-law, Mrs. William Artman, his brother-in-law, James Thurman, and his little stepdaughter, Ethel Gentry. Then, after so nearly exterminating a whole family, the murderer blew off the top of his own head, dying instantly.

The tragedy occurred at the house of William Artman, Sr., father-in-law of the murderer. Mrs. Rainwater had recently left her husband, and, with Ethel Gentry, a daughter by a former husband, had sought shelter at the home of her parents. Rainwater is reported to have been insanely jealous of his wife, and it is believed that he visited the Artman home with the express purpose of killing the whole family.

Olds Don't Get the Place.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Colonel Olds of California, the president's war friend, will not be assistant secretary of war because he lives in the Pacific coast state. Attorney General McKenna's appointment prevented it.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

HARRY MURPHY, assistant general manager of the Western Transit company, died in Buffalo after a brief illness. He was one of the best known steamboat men on the upper lakes.

Word was received in New York that John King, former president and later receiver of the Erie railroad, died at Beacon, near Nice, France, on March 17. His wife and daughter were with him when he died.

Hon. F. M. Stone, president of the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust company, died at his home in Waltham, Mass. His death was hastened by worry over the defalcation of Frank C. Miles of the Boston Safe Deposit and Savings company. He leaves a wife and two sons.

Saturday was the ninety-third anniversary of the birth of Neal Dow, father of prohibition. The great reformer passed the day quietly at his home in Portland, Me. He received a great many letters and telegrams of congratulation, and numerous callers paid their respects to him.

At Salem, Mass., the Naumakeag steam cotton mills started on full time, giving employment to about 1,500 men.

The Clyde window glass factory at Franklin, Ind., has been closed pending the settlement of the differences between the workmen and the company in regard to the refusal of the men to set pots after 5 o'clock p. m.

President McKinley, after an investigation of the charges made against Commissioner Lamoreaux of the general land office, decided that they were without foundation and that he had acted within the scope of his authority in his decision of the Chicago lake front case.

GOV. BRADLEY TO RESIGN.

A Part of His Plan to Become Senator and Beat Hunter.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 22.—Gov. Bradley has told two friends in his office that no matter what is the result of the present senatorial fight he will resign the office of governor immediately after the expiration of the present extra session.

He declined to discuss the matter, but told another friend the same thing. That such is his intention has been known to your representative for several weeks, but that he does not want to authorize the statement as yet is emphasized by his evident annoyance that what he confided to his friends had become public.

However, the few politicians who have heard the story say that the governor's intention having become public may result in making more probable his election over Hunter tomorrow or Wednesday. They argue that the chief reason why the gold Democrats refuse to go into a coalition to elect Bradley is that it would fence the gubernatorial election this fall, which they have their own reasons for not wanting done.

Prominent politicians from all over the state are arriving here to take part in the fight for and against Hunter, the nominee, and Bradley who refuses to be deposed by even the influence of the national administration.

GOV. PINGREE WON'T RESIGN.

He Finally Decides Not to Run For Mayor of Detroit.

DETROIT, March 22.—Governor Pingree will not resign the governorship and will not be a candidate for mayor of Detroit at the special election, April 5. This negative program was decided upon at a meeting of the governor and several of his advisers.

The "old man," as his excellency is familiarly called, by his followers, wanted to vindicate himself as against the supreme court decision in ousting him by permitting the Republicans to nominate him for mayor, believing he would be triumphantly re-elected. Most of his advisers at the meeting, however, especially those from other parts of the state, insisted that it was his first duty to remain governor until the end of the term, and not permit Lieutenant Governor Dunstan to succeed him.

After hours of discussion the chief gradually came around to this view. The meeting finally decided to recommend that the city convention nominate Captain Albert E. Stewart, a Detroit vessel owner and member of the legislature, to succeed Pingree as mayor. The Republican convention had adjourned until today to await Pingree's wishes, and the Democratic city convention adjourned until tomorrow in order to learn what the Republicans were going to do.

LOCOMOTIVE BOILER EXPLODED.

Engineer and Fireman Killed—Passengers Didn't Even Hear the Explosion.

CHICAGO, March 22.—The boiler of the locomotive which was hauling the Chicago and Boston special on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad has blown up, instantly killing the engineer and fireman and completely demolishing the engine.

The dead are:

Alexander Franks, engineer, of Chicago.

Edward B. Smith, fireman, of Chicago.

The engineer was hurled 200 feet into the air, through a new work of telegraph wires that were stretched along the tracks and had his right leg torn off. The fireman was thrown against a cattle car and instantly killed.

None of the remainder of the train crew nor any of the passengers were injured.

A peculiar feature of the explosion was the fact that although the report was so loud it was heard by residents a half mile away and the force so great that the engine was literally blown to atoms, none of the passengers in the rear part of the train heard the report, and were not aware that anything unusual had happened until they looked out after the train had come to a sudden stop.

THE RUIZ INVESTIGATION.

It Will Soon Commence and Sherman Thinks It Will Be Fair.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—It is expected by the state department officials that the inquiry to be conducted into the causes leading up to the death of Dr. Ruiz, the naturalized American in a Cuban prison, will soon be commenced. The investigation will be conducted in Havana, or in the place where Ruiz was imprisoned and Consul General Lee will be present in person or will be represented by some one to look after the interests of the family of Dr. Ruiz.

Secretary Sherman expresses the belief that the investigation into the affair will be a thorough and fair one, assurances to that effect having been given by the Spanish government.

Cuban President Reported Dead.

HAVANA, March 22.—It is reported from Camaguey that Salvador Cisneros, president of the Cuban republic, is dead, that Vice President Bartolome Maso succeeds him as president and that Dr. Capot, ex-professor of Havana university, will be appointed vice president.

Charles Scott Released.

HAVANA, March 22.—Charles Scott, the American against whom the military court at Guanabacoa preferred charges which were subsequently dismissed, has been released. He will probably leave for the United States on Wednesday next.

A Dinner to Dubois.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—A number of silver members of both senate and house will give a dinner to ex-Senator Dubois tomorrow evening as a compliment to him for the work he has done in the interest of silver.

To Prevent Cutting Levees.

LITTLE ROCK, March 22.—Governor Jones has authorized the sheriff of Desha county to use the state militia to prevent the unlawful cutting of the levees.

A Retired Broker Dies.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Walter P. Sorymsa, a wealthy retired broker, of New York, has died at Elizabeth, N. J.

Facts are Forceful.

In business building, facts you demand of us; facts we shall give you, money saving facts, most of them. That's what makes them interesting. Its the ring of honesty in our "ads" that brings people to our store. Investigation follows, our goods are compared with the statements made about them; being found as represented a pleased patron is the result. The store news is of uncommon interest just at this time, dealing as it does with the many lots of fresh spring merchandise.

Handsome Black Weaves

fresh from the factory. Handsome brocades with glossy mohair figures, standard weaves of many sorts, all priced for quick selling.

Serges 34 inches wide, all wool, good black, 25c, and as good or better than anything we have sold at this price.

Our 50c serge is 50 inches wide, and an excellent value. Black satin solid, we have never had one at less than $1 per yard before, but the one we mention is 36 inches wide, 50c a yard. Most of the skirts, 50c, 75c, 85c and $1. These are but a few of the good things in our black dress goods stock.

Colored Dress Stuffs.

Hardly know where to begin. This fact, however, stands out prominent: your buying will be easy. No better time than now to make a selection.

Among them we would call attention to one number in checks, all wool, 50 inches wide, in four colors, black and white, blue and white, brown and white, green and white, price 60c. Another line of checks at 70c that from appearance you would judge to be a good deal more money, and still another at 25c, 34 inches wide, some all wool, some part wool, and all excellent values.

38 inch silk and wool goods, in all the new coloring, and spring shades, at 75c and 90c.

New Kid Gloves.

Would like you to try a pair of our gloves. Believe if you did that hereafter you would buy every pair from us.

Two clasp gloves, heavy embroidery, in reds and medium browns, 4 button gloves, in blue, green, tan, brown, mode, cream and butter colors, with self and black stitching; also black, in lacing and button, all at $1. We believe we have the strongest line of gloves in town at the price.

Black 4 button suede, also 4 button and 5 hook lacing are some of the styles we show at $1.50.

Try a pair of our gloves.

Ready Made Sheets and Pillow Cases

almost as cheap as you can buy the muslin; then why bother making them yourself, or hire them made when you can buy them ready for use?

We have the sheets in plain hemmed and also hemstitched, in 9-4 and 10-4, and the cases in 42 and 45 inches.

Chicago Corset Waists.

in white, steel grey and black. We have the agency for them in East Liverpool. Don't be put off by buying something just as good, but get the genuine article from us. Price $1.

TO OUR MERCHANTS.

Advertisers will make note that newspaper advertising embraces STRAIGHT matter. Fancy advertisements will be charged for at fancy prices.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Samuel Burford has moved here from Tiffin.

Motorman Gus Brandenburg is off duty owing to illness.

The grand jury of Hancock county met at New Cumberland today.

Will George is today moving his household goods to East Palestine.

The people were orderly Saturday night. The police did not make an arrest.

Passenger travel on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh this morning was unusually heavy.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Anderson, East End, will entertain friends tomorrow evening.

Bicyclers were out in force Saturday evening, and several small accidents occurred.

The mission band, of the First M. E. church, Saturday evening gave a very pleasant box social in Ferguson & Hill hall.

The street force are today cleaning Sixth street. It is said the street sweeper will make its appearance in the near future.

There was an unusually large crowd of people on the streets early Saturday evening, and it required all the time of Officer Whan to keep them on the move.

Hundreds of people crossed the bridge to the Virginia side yesterday, and the pleasant weather filled the streets of the city during the afternoon and evening.

Secretary Charles, of the Young Men's Christian association, and M. K. Zimmerman were the special speakers at the Salvation Army barracks last evening.

The Yellow Kid orchestra is the name of a new musical organization, which will meet for rehearsal this evening. It is composed of small boys, but they make very good music.

The county roads are drying up in a manner most gratifying, and if the spring weather continues farmers believe the annual plague will not be as long drawn out as usual.

Reverend Naylor officiated at the funeral of Elijah Reed, which took place at the Methodist Protestant church yesterday afternoon. The Red Men had charge of the ceremonies.

The Sons of Veterans will hold their annual reception tomorrow evening in Grand Army hall. A special program has been arranged, and after it is carried out refreshments will be served.

The township trustees say they are prepared to prove that there were three destitute families at Walker, notwithstanding the statement published in an unreliable downtown sheet to the contrary.

If the party who lost his vest on Fourth street last Saturday afternoon will call on Mrs. Annie Wade, 119 Huston addition, he can recover his property. The lady found the package on the street.

The rains of the past few days have had a tendency to raise the river to a stage of 17 feet, but the waters are now receding slowly. Shipments fair. Passed up, Ben Hur, Kanawha and Keystone State.

A number of members of the Christian church, loaded down with well filled baskets, surprised Professor and Mrs. Reed at their home in Woodlawn avenue the other evening. All spent a few hours delightfully.

At the First Presbyterian church last evening Doctor Lee delivered a sermon in behalf of the American Bible society, and the collection which followed showed the interest manifested in the work of that organization.

Two well known women of Seventh street Saturday afternoon amused the neighborhood by indulging in a wordy war. The lie was passed several times, but the intervention of spectators prevented a hair pulling match.

A pleasant event, Saturday evening, was the reception given by the Aid society of St. Aloysius church to Mrs. Daugherty, of Wheeling. A large number were present. Music was the principal feature. A dainty lunch was served.

The city engineer and a corps of assistants are at work today making needed improvements upon the sewers and flush tanks. The latter have been out of order for some time, and it is expected that from now they will be placed in first class condition.

The reason why storekeepers should not take up more than four feet of the sidewalks was aptly illustrated Saturday afternoon. A lady was passing a stack of weights when her dress caught and a large piece was torn out. She left the place in a frame of mind not at all enviable.

The prospects for a good run in the potteries continue, and a well known gentleman connected with the industry said he would not be surprised if the amount of ware made in this place between the present and the summer rest would be more than that made in the same period of any previous year.

Apollo's Harp

Was the ancient forerunner of the piano. Its pleasant, plaintive strains, struck by the hand of the apt minstrel, made the finest music of which the Greeks knew anything about. Had they heard the tones of one of our magnificent upright pianos, their feelings would have been akin to those of a man who hears the music at St. Peter's, in Rome, during passion week, for the first time in his life. Our pianos are perfect in every way known to manufacturers.

SECOND MOVE OF THE FIGHT

That Promised Telephone War Is Announcing Its Coming—The Home of Pittsburgh Will First Be Fought—More Money Was Needed.

The second move in the telephone war, which has been promised for this section for several months, was made the other day in Pittsburgh, and further developments are expected soon.

The first movement, it will be remembered by readers of the NEWS REVIEW, was the organization of local telephone companies in New York to fight the Bell. At that meeting a good many hundreds of thousands of dollars were represented, and the gentlemen went home with some of their plans formed. Last week the stockholders of the Central District company by a unanimous vote decided to increase the capital stock from $2,500,000 to $4,000,000. The money will be used in meeting the competition of the Home company, a new organization in Pittsburgh, whose officers are at the bottom of the movement to combine all local companies, and construct a long distance line to Chicago. At present the Bell alone can furnish the long distance service and this fact so seriously handicapped the local companies that it was found necessary to combine or quit business. Other Bell corporations will soon be ready for the fray, and it is expected that the fight will be long drawn out. The Home company, of Pittsburgh, will endeavor to put local exchanges in every town and city of any importance in this section. It is known the company have their eye on East Liverpool, but no direct move has yet been made.

THE MEN CAME OUT.

Salineville Miners Would Not Work In Foul Air.

SALINEVILLE, March 22.—[Special.]—One hundred and fifty miners employed at the Slope, walked out this morning, and informed the management they would do no more work until the mine was properly ventilated. Two men were overcome by bad air on Saturday, and it was necessary to carry them to the open air. The working portions are a long distance from the foot of the slope, and the mine is difficult to ventilate. State Inspector Haseltine has been notified, and is expected tonight.

STOP THAT SPITTING.

It Is Disgusting, and Tempts One to Walk In Bad Weather.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW—I want to protest in the strongest possible terms against the practice so many men have of spitting in street cars. I am a working girl, and ride every morning and evening in a street car. There are always men who spit tobacco juice on the floor, and make it look like a hog pen. The company don't allow it, but it is done nevertheless. Can't the board of health do something toward stopping it? The practice is disgusting.

A GOOD SHOWING

Is Made In the Railroad's Annual Report.

A synopsis of the annual report of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh shows the road to be in good financial shape. The total gross earnings for 1896 were $3,226,614, and the expenses of operation and taxes amounted to $2,057,653, leaving net earnings of $1,168,961. From passenger traffic $576,678 was derived, and from freight traffic the sum of $2,506,955. President Smith expressed himself as highly pleased with the report.

There Was Little Excitement In Spite of the Fight.

Considering the feeling created before the primaries, the city was very quiet on Saturday. There were no chances for trouble except in the Second and Fourth wards, and here there was more or less turmoil during the afternoon. One man was challenged in the Fourth, and talked a great deal, as did the parties who challenged him. The ticket nominated was as follows:

Council—Henry Cooper, Homer Michaels, Thomas Johnson, Julius Goetz, E. McKenzie, S. Miner. Water works trustee—J. W. Devore. Constable—H. Thorn. Cemetery trustee—W. H. Frazier. Assessor—J. McCauley, Joe Davis, W. R. McDonald, M. H. McKenzie, John Saltzman.

WHERE ARE THEY?

It Is a Mystery to the Parents of the Girl.

Saturday evening a certain young lady of about 16 years did not return to the parental roof after being on the street. Her father awaited her return anxiously, but suspecting something was wrong went in search of her, and kept up the search all night, but with no result. Sunday morning dawned, and no information as to her whereabouts was received. Saturday evening she is said to have been seen with a young man from Rochester. He has not been seen since Saturday, and the parents are very anxious for their daughter.

DIDN'T LET THEM.

Two East Liverpool Men Tried to Vote, But Were Prevented.

Last Saturday, while two of the election officers of the Fourth ward were at supper, leaving only one officer in care of the ballot box, two East Liverpool men attempted to vote. They were prevented by the election officer, and held in check until the other officers arrived. The parties were somewhat under the influence of intoxicants, and created considerable noise until the citizens became indignant and warned them to leave or there would be trouble.

The News of Wellsville.

Reverend Bowers, pastor of the Christian church, preached on "Sprinkling," last evening, by request.

Reverend Rager delivered a sermon from the life of Asbury to the Brotherhood, yesterday afternoon, and those who were present had the opportunity of listening to a splendid sermon.

Mrs. Charity Burnett, who has been sick for some time, is able to be about again.

Jefferson Patterson, of East Palestine, foreman for Sebring Brothers, of that city, is home on a short visit. He will return tomorrow.

James March, of Broadway, is convalescent. He had a severe attack of quinsy.

Presiding Elder Hensel, of the Evangelical church of Cleveland, preached at the Evangelical church yesterday evening. Yesterday was the quarterly meeting, and a large audience was present.

FOR TWENTY-NINE YEARS

Had Mrs. Cannon Lived In This Place.

Mrs. Mary Cannon died Saturday evening at her home in Sixth street from an attack of pneumonia, aged 78 years. Deceased was an old resident of the city, and was well known having come here from Scotland in the year of 1868, her husband dying in the fall of 1886. Eight sons and one daughter are left to mourn her loss. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock from St. Aloysius church, and the remains will be interred in the Catholic cemetery.

KOCH GOT A VERDICT

He Sued For Another Man's Life Insurance.

THE CASE TRIED LAST YEAR

And Went to the Circuit Court Where It Was Sent Back For Another Trial—It Was Hard Fought, and Will Probably Go Higher.

LISBON, March 22.—[Special.]—Last Saturday afternoon the jury in the case of George J. Koch against the Mutual Life, of New York, returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $5,616.66. The amount is due on the policy of Emor T. Sittler, late of Waterford, which Koch claimed had been assigned to him for a valuable consideration. After Sittler's death the insurance company refused to pay the amount, and a year ago a jury in this court gave him $5,402.50. The case went up on error, and was remanded for trial. It will probably be taken up again. No case in recent months has been so hard fought.

Robert Charlton and Thomas McNamara, Leontia boys brought here last week, were taken before Judge Boone, this morning, and sentenced to Lancaster. In the case of McNamara, on the plea of the parents, sentence was suspended for 30 days.

WALL PAPER.

When You Need It, Then Make Your Way to McDole's.

New spring patterns have just been received, in all the richest colorings of dark greens, reds and blue, in perfect combinations of side wall, ceilings and borders to match.

The verdict of intelligent buyers is generally correct in regard to quality, prices and designs of wall paper.

Fifty thousand rolls comprises the amount of our stock. We invite comparison, as we are the only exclusive wall paper and paint house in the city, with capacity large enough to enable us to carry such an immense stock. We daily receive the plaudits of economical housekeepers on our most popular prices. Call and get our prices. Parlor paper ranging in price from 12½ cents to 65 cents; dining room from 6 to 15 cents; hall from 6 to 25 cents; kitchens from 2 to 10 cents. We have a full line of linoleums and floor oil cloths, in all widths. Window shades at bottom prices. All kinds of paints and stains, at bottom prices, in small cans, from 10 cents up.

PERSONAL MENTION.

—Will Greene has gone to East Palestine.

—Fred Powers, of Stenbenville, was in the city today.

—E. D. Moore is in Cleveland, the guest of his daughter.

—Mrs. Kinsey, wife of Watchman Kinsey, has returned home.

—Miss Lizzie Eardley, of East Palestine, spent Sunday in the city.

—D. A. Anderson, of Canton, spent yesterday in the city the guest of friends.

—Miss Mame Newton has returned to her home in Rochester after spending a week with friends in this place.

—Mr. and Mrs. Wallace, of Avondale, returned home today. While in the city they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hall, of Sixth street.

—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Maher, Thomas Whalen and family, John Whalen and family, of Salineville; and Mrs. Joseph Cannon, of Wheeling, are in the city today to attend the funeral of Mrs. Mary Cannon.

THE MEASLES.

The Last Case Developed at Doctor Ogden's Home.

The number of cases of measles reported to the health authorities shows a decrease from the report of the past few days. Among the last victims is John, the son of Doctor Ogden. Two cases were reported at the residence of Henry Goodwin. The disease has spread out through the city, and the section between Fifth and Third streets where it raged a week or two ago is almost clear of cases.

Association Notes.

Director Morris is now at work organizing two basketball teams. If his plans succeed, the first game will be played next week. The teams will also play outdoor games as soon as good weather sets in.

The board of directors hold their regular monthly meeting this evening.

The association has now 200 members.

We are now prepared to furnish the trade with pure hygeia ice and hygeia redistilled water. It is absolutely pure, and recommended by home physicians for purity and health.

Wired Glass.

As the result of a thorough investigation of the heat resisting qualities of wired glass instituted by the Philadelphia Fire Underwriters' association the latter has made a report which must be very serviceable to all interested in this unique product. The report declares that such glass can be safely used in skylights and in such situations will stand a severe fire and not give way when water is thrown on it. A wooden framing for skylight, covered with tin, all seams lock jointed and with nails hidden, is superior in fire resisting quality to iron framing. Wired glass in wooden sash, covered with tin, all seams lock jointed and nails concealed, can safely be used for windows toward an external exposure and in fire doors to elevator shafts and stairway towers, where it is necessary to light the shafts; in office buildings, hotels, etc., where it is undesirable to have elevator shafts entirely inclosed and dark, wired glass permanently built into a brick or terra cotta shaft, or arranged in a metal covered wood frame, can safely be used, and, again, wired glass plates, securely fastened in standard fire shutters, can safely be used toward an external exposure—in this case, the fact that a possible fire in a building all the windows of which are protected by fire shutters can much more readily be detected from the outside through the wired glass is important.—New York Sun.

Old Greek Painters.

The methods of these ancient days were totally different from those of the present day and were evidently vastly more durable. Panels of wood were used to paint on, sycamore and cypress, also panels of paper mache, and occasional-ly they were formed by gluing three thicknesses of canvas together. These panels were usually about 14 inches long by 7 inches wide. The artist used liquid wax instead of oil to mix the colors, which were made, not from vegetable, but from mineral substances, and were of marvelous brilliancy and permanence—blue powdered lapis lazuli, green malachite, red oxide of iron, etc. The colors were laid on in patches, somewhat after the fashion of a mosaic, and afterward blended with an instrument called the costrum, which appears to have been a lancet shaped spatula, long handled, with at one end a curved point, at the other a finely dentated edge. With the toothed edge the wax could be equalized and smoothed, while the point was used for placing high lights, marking lips, eyebrows, etc.

The final process, which gives the name encaustic to this kind of painting, was the burning in of the colors. This was done by the application of a heated surface to the panel, though George Ebers believes that in Egypt the heat of the sun was probably all that was needed to complete the artist's work.—Monthly Illustrator.

Rossini's Laziness.

Rossini was one of the most indolent of men, and in his younger days used to do most of his composing in bed. Once he had almost completed a trio, when the sheet fell out of his hand and went under the bed. He could not reach it, and rather than get up, he wrote another. The lazy man, if he works at all, does so by spurts, and Rossini, working against time, wrote "The Barber of Seville" in 13 days. When Donizetti was told of this, he remarked, "It is very possible—he is so lazy!" The overture to the "Gazza Ladra" was written under curious circumstances. On the very day of the first performance of the opera a note of the overture was written, and the manager, getting hold of Rossini, confined him in the upper loft of La Scala, setting four scene shifters on guard over him. These took the sheets as they were filled and threw them out of the windows to copyists beneath.

Whose Was It?

A scholar traveling in the east says that he was once in camp with his friend Ramsay, a man of kindred tastes, in a wretched Phrygian village far from the track of travelers. As they were striking tents in the morning a heavy faced boy brought Mr. Ramsay a handful of bronze for sale. He sorted it rapidly on the palm of his hand and found among the rubbish one very rare coin of Hierapolis. Then he put it all back again in the boy's outstretched palm and offered half a dollar for the lot. The boy accepted the bid, gave back the handful, took his money and disappeared while the exultant purchaser went chuckling off among the horses.

Ten minutes later the boy appeared again, and, going up to the other Englishman, offered another handful of rubbish among which was the same rare Hieropolitan coin. The gentleman kept the bronze in his hand and offered a half dollar for it, which the boy refused, though the bargain was eventually concluded for a dollar.

Then the gentleman, in high glee, hailed his companion and, showing his purchase, informed him that he was not the only man who possessed a coin of Hierapolis.

"Let us compare," said the other, emptying the pocket where his bronze was jingling.

He sorted the lot and felt in every pocket. No coin of Hierapolis was there. To this day three questions remain unanswered:

How did the boy retain the coin in the first instance in order to sell it over again?

How, in that remote region, far from the haunts of travelers, did he know the value of his find?

And to which purchaser did the coin really belong?—Youth's Companion.

His Sweet Voice.

The best of men are at times liable to make very serious mistakes. A man in a Leicestershire village woke in the night and heard what he supposed to be the harsh grating of a saw on a hard board and at once jumped to the conclusion that some bold, bad burglar was sawing a hole in the front door.

He slipped out of bed, glided like a specter into the hall and again listened and this time became fully satisfied that his first suspicions were correct.

Seizing his trusty gun, he poured a handful of powder and ditto of shot into each barrel, capped it and, softly raising an up stairs window, blazed away in the darkness, the shot being followed by a howl of pain from below.

He then hurriedly drew on a few of his most necessary garments and went to investigate the matter, and upon the first step found the wounded form of a neighboring youth, who, in feeble tones, explained that he had come over to serene his sweetheart, the old man's only daughter, with a song and that when he was shot he was driving ahead as best he could on "Sweet Spirit, Hear My Prayer."

He expressed no surprise at the old man's mistake, but thinks that he might have at least yelled "Who's there?" before he pulled the trigger, but the shooter said he was somewhat excited and just a little scared, so didn't stop to think.—Pearson's Weekly.

The Gollie's Excuse.

It is well known that the queen has a dislike to the smell of tobacco, and even such a constant smoker as the Prince of Wales is careful to deodorize himself as much as possible before being received by his royal mother. Perhaps the late John Brown took her majesty's aversion more coolly than any one else, for his sport was always crammed with a mixture peculiarly black and strong.

On one occasion the late Duke of Sutherland sent some live deer to Windsor under the charge of his head keeper, who, having seen his charges safely housed, foregathered with Brown, and smoke and whisky speedily combined in no small quantities. While the carouse was progressing John was hastily summoned to the queen's presence, and away he went without changing his clothes. His sovereign lady soon detected the peccant odor and reproached Brown with it.

"Heel! Your majesty," said Brown, "it's nae my fault. It's joost 'contact' with the duke's keeper." He was forgiven on the spot.—London Telegraph.

Queer Language.

The Saturday Review says that when he was in Egypt Mark Twain hired two Arab guides to take him to the pyramids. He was familiar enough with Arabic, he thought, to understand and be understood with perfect ease. To his consternation he found that he could not comprehend a word that either of the guides uttered. At the pyramids he met a friend, to whom he made known his dilemma. It was very mysterious, Twain thought. "Why, the explanation is simple enough," said the friend. "Please enlighten me, then," said Twain. "Why, you should have hired younger men. These old fellows have lost their teeth, and, of course, they don't speak Arabic. They speak gum-Arabic."

A Wonderful Scholar.

Antonio Magliabechi, the famous Florentine scholar, was remarkable not only for the amount and variety of his knowledge—for he knew accurately 60 different languages—but also for his incessant labors as a student and librarian. "He usually passed the whole night in study and when exhausted nature demanded rest a straw chair served for a couch and an old threadbare cloak for a coverlet."

The people living at Peak's island, Me., are so healthy that the physician who attempted to make a living by remaining there failed, and the islanders, sick and well alike, contribute a certain amount yearly, outside that paid for services, to keep him there.

A Hindoo Made of Rubber.

A Hindoo named Bava Luchman Dass is attracting the interested attention of the London medical profession. Mr. Dass is a Yogi, and if all Yogis are like Mr. Dass the ordinary treatises on anatomy must be subjected to revision. He was exhibited to the Students' Anatomical society of St. George's hospital and introduced by the lecturer as "an unusually complicated specimen of the Indian Yogi—a Brahmin, namely, of a very high caste—who goes through certain religious exercises with a view of qualifying himself better for paradise. These religious exercises seem to take a physical form, and Mr. Dass, a little dark gentleman, sat upon the table and proceeded to exhibit a selection from the 84 abnormal positions which he has put in 40 solid years in learning.

He seemed to have ligaments of the gutta percha persuasion, while his joints evidently work on all bearings. He formed his legs into a cravat and tied them about his neck. He hopped about on one hand and strolled jauntily on his knees, a position which is said to greatly assist thought, though the thoughts of a white man in such a position would hardly be fit for publication. He folded his legs tightly around his body and stood thoughtfully on his finger tips for several minutes, in which posture he declared he was able to remain for seven days. However, as the medical students did not wish to carry out this particular experiment to its bitter end, Mr. Dass proceeded to tie himself up in a knot and to go to sleep on one leg like a flamingo. Then sitting down suddenly he brought the sole of his feet together, his knees being at such an acute angle that nothing short of complete dislocation could have effected the performance possible. The lecturer endeavored to follow his movements on an extremely suggestive looking skeleton which he had by his side and finally came to the conclusion that Mr. Dass had no ligaments at all.—London Graphic.

Treachorous Cape Cod.

Nobody knows how many vessels have been wrecked on Cape Cod since the bleak December day when the Mayflower rounded Race point and sought shelter in what is now the harbor of Provincetown. The number is very great, however, and the loss of life on this most dangerous part of the whole New England coast has been something appalling. A list, admitted to be incomplete, of the wrecks since 1873 shows that 111 vessels, including three steamers, have gone to pieces on the pitiless sands of the cape, and had not the waves always hastened to remove the evidences of their work, the shore all the way from Chatham, at the elbow of Massachusetts' elbow, to the crook of her best hand would be piled high with the ribs and planking of shattered vessels. A large proportion of the cape's victims are coasting schooners, with only an occasional bark or brig. These disasters, therefore, rarely attract much attention, but they are tragical none the less, and almost every storm adds to the number of dreadful stories which the lighthouse keepers and members of the life saving service have to tell.—New York Times.

English as a Cursing Medium.

A pleasing testimonial to the resources of the English language was given at Manchester. An inquiry was being held as to a house reputed to be used for gambling. It was frequented by poor Jews, and they were stated in a general way to have spoken their own Yiddish—except when they wished to swear. They used English. Our oaths appear to be simpler and stronger than those of any other tongue. The Spaniards, though it must be admitted they are coarser, are too elaborate. They swear not in words, but in sentences. The same may be said of Italian expletives. French oaths are a failure. They bear in slang, but in simple oburgation they are nowhere. German imprecations mean a good deal, but that is just where they fail. The essence of a good Russian oath is mystery. And that is why American swearing, though sonorous, misses its mark. There is too much thought in it.—St. James Gazette.

SECOND MOVE OF THE FIGHT

That Promised Telephone War Is Announcing Its Coming—The Home of Pittsburg Will First Be Fought—More Money Was Needed.

The second move in the telephone war,
which has been promised for this section
for several months, was made the other day in Pittsburg, and further developments are expected soon.

The first movement, it will be remembered by readers of the NEWS REVIEW, was the organization of local telephone companies in New York to fight the Bell. At that meeting a good many hundreds of thousands of dollars were represented, and the gentlemen went home with some of their plans formed.
Last week the stockholders of the Central District company by a unanimous vote decided to increase the capital stock from $2,500,000 to $4,000,000. The money will be used in meeting the competition of the Home company, a new organization in Pittsburg, whose officers are at the bottom of the movement to combine all local companies, and construct a long distance line to Chicago.
At present the Bell alone can furnish the long distance service and this fact so seriously handicapped the local companies that it was found necessary to combine or quit business. Other Bell corporations will soon be ready for the fray, and it is expected that the fight will be long drawn out. The Home company, of Pittsburg, will endeavor to put local exchanges in every town and city of any importance in this section. It is known the company have their eye on East Liverpool, but no direct move has yet been made.

Salineville Miners Would Not Work In Foul Air.

SALINEVILLE, March 22.—(Special.)—
One hundred and fifty miners employed at the Slope, walked out this morning, and informed the management they would do no more work until the mine was properly ventilated. Two men were overcome by bad air on Saturday, and it was necessary to carry them to the open air. The working portions are a long distance from the foot of the slope, and the mine is difficult to ventilate. State Inspector Haseltine has been notified, and is expected tonight.

STOP THAT SPITTING.

It Is Disgusting, and Tempts One to Walk

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW—I want to protest in the strongest possible terms against the practice so many men have of spitting in street cars. I am a working girl, and ride every morning and evening in a street car. There are always men who spit tobacco juice on the floor, and make it look like a hog pen.
The company don't allow it, but it is done nevertheless. Can't the board of health do something toward stopping it?
The practice is disgusting.

Is Made In the Railroad's Annual Report.

A synopsis of the annual report of the Cleveland and Pittsburg shows the road to be in good financial shape. The total gross earning for 1896 were $3,236,614,
and the expenses of operation and taxes
amounted to $2,057,653, leaving net earnings of $1,178,961. From passenger traffic $576,678 was derived, and from freight traffic the sum of $2,506,955.
President Smith expressed himself as highly pleased with the report.

of George J. Koch against the Mutual Life, of New York, returned a verdict
in favor of the plaintiff for $5,616.66.
The amount is due on the policy of Emor
T. Sittler, late of Waterford, which Koch claimed had been assigned to him for a valuable consideration.
After Sittler's death the insurance company refused to pay the amount, and a year ago a jury in this court gave him $5,402.50. The case went up on error, and was remanded for trial. It will probably be taken up again. No case in recent months has been so hard fought.

Robert Charlton and Thomas Mc-Namara, Leetonia boys brought here
last week, were taken before Judge Boone, this morning, and sentenced to Lancaster. In the case of McNamara, on the plea of the parents, sentence was suspended for 30 days.

WALL PAPER.

When You Need It, Then Make Your Way to McDole's.

New spring patterns have just been received, in all the richest colorings of dark greens, reds and blue, in perfect combinations of side wall, ceilings and borders to match.

The verdict of intelligent buyers is generally correct in regard to quality,
prices and designs of wall paper.

Fifty thousand rolls comprises the amount of our stock. We invite comparison, as we are the only exclusive wall paper and paint house in the city,
with capacity large enough to enable us to carry such an immense stock. We daily receive the plaudits of economical
housekeepers on our most popular prices.
Call and get our prices. Parlor paper ranging in price from 12½ cents to 65 cents; dining room from 6 to 15 cents;
hall from 6 to 25 cents; kitchens from 2 to 10 cents. We have a full line of linoleums and floor oil cloths, in all widths. Window shades at bottom prices. All kinds of paints and stains, at bottom prices, in small cans, from 10 cents up.

THE MEASLES.

The Last Case Developed at Doctor Ogden's Home.

The number of cases of measles reported to the health authorities shows a decrease from the report of the past few days. Among the last victims is John, the son of Doctor Ogden. Two cases were reported at the residence of Henry Goodwin. The disease has spread out through the city, and the section between Fifth and Third streets where it raged a week or two ago is almost clear of cases.

Association Notes.

Director Morris is now at work organizing two basketball teams. If his plans succeed, the first game will be played next week. The teams will also play outdoor games as soon as good weather sets in.

The board of directors held their regular monthly meeting this evening.

The association has now 200 members.

We are now prepared to furnish the trade with pure hygeia ice and hygeia redistilled water. It is absolutely pure, and recommended by home physicians for purity and health.

Wired Glass.

As the result of a thorough investigation of the heat resisting qualities of wired glass instituted by the Philadelphia Fire Underwriters' association the latter has made a report which must be very serviceable to all interested in this unique product. The report declares that such glass can be safely used in skylights and in such situations will stand a severe fire and not give way when water is thrown on it. A wooden framing for skylight, covered with tin,
all seams lock jointed and with nails
hidden, is superior in fire resisting quality to iron framing. Wired glass in wooden sash, covered with tin, all seams lock jointed and nails concealed,
can safely be used for windows toward an external exposure and in fire doors to elevator shafts and stairway towers, where it is necessary to light the shafts; in office buildings, hotels, etc., where it is undesirable to have elevator shafts entirely inclosed and dark, wired glass permanently built into a brick or terra cotta shaft, or arranged in a metal covered wood frame, can safely be used, and, again, wired glass plates, securely fastened in standard fire shutters, can safely be used toward an external exposure—in this case, the fact that a possible fire in a building all the windows of which are protected by fire shutters can much more readily be detected from the outside through the wired glass is important.—New York Sun.

Old Greek Painters.

The methods of these ancient days were totally different from those of the present day and were evidently vastly more durable. Panels of wood were used to paint on, sycamore and cypress, also panels of papier mache, and occasionally they were formed by gluing three thicknesses of canvas together. These panels were usually about 14 inches long by 7 inches wide. The artist used liquid wax instead of oil to mix the colors,
which were made, not from vegetable,
but from mineral substances, and were
of marvelous brilliancy and permanence
—blue powdered lapis lazuli, green malachite, red oxide of iron, etc. The colors were laid on in patches, somewhat after the fashion of a mosaic, and afterward blended with an instrument called the cestrum, which appears to have been a lance shaped spatula, long handled, with at one end a curved point,
at the other a finely dentated edge.
With the toothed edge the wax could be equalized and smoothed, while the point was used for placing high lights, marking lips, eyebrows, etc.

The final process, which gives the name encaustic to this kind of painting, was the burning in of the colors. This was done by the application of a heated surface to the panel, though George Ebers believes that in Egypt the heat of the sun was probably all that was needed to complete the artist's work.—

Rossini's Laziness.

Rossini was one of the most indolent of men, and in his younger days used to do most of his composing in bed.
Once he had almost completed a trio,
when the sheet fell out of his hand and went under the bed. He could not reach it, and rather than get up, he wrote another. The lazy man, if he works at all, does so by spurts, and Rossini, working against time, wrote "The Barber of Seville" in 13 days. When Donizetti was told of this, he remarked, "It is very possible—he is so lazy!" The overture to the "Gazza Ladra" was written under curious circumstances. On the very day of the first performance of the opera not a note of the overture was written, and the manager, getting hold of Rossini, confined him in the upper loft of La Scala, setting four scene shifters on guard over him. These took the sheets as they were filled and threw them out of the windows to copyists beneath.

Dr. N. H. Holmes.

The well known and popular presidente
of Beaver college will deliver a lecture in the First M. E. church Monday night, March 29, on "Life in Southern Prisons."
The doctor gives a full account of a wonderful escape and a tramp of 300 miles through the land of the enemy.
Proceeds of the lecture are for the benefit of the church.

Going East.

L. L. Pierce, state secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, now stationed in Cleveland, was in the city today calling upon Secretary Charles, of the local association. On April 1 Mr. Pierce will leave the Ohio branch to accept the general secretaryship of the Trenton, N. J., association.

Changed the Teams.

The Gegros and Hobos will be pitted against each other next Thursday evening in the indoor base ball game, instead of the clerks and scholars, as stated.
The game will be played at the Young Men's Christian association rooms.

Whose Was It?

A scholar traveling in the east says that he was once in camp with his friend Ramsay, a man of kindred tastes,
in a wretched Phrygian village far from the track of travelers. As they were striking tents in the morning a heavy faced boy brought Mr. Ramsay a handful of bronze for sale. He sorted it rapidly on the palm of his hand and found among the rubbish one very rare coin of Hierapolis. Then he put it all back again in the boy's outstretched palm and offered half a dollar for the lot. The boy accepted the bid, gave back the handful, took his money and disappeared while the exultant purchaser went chuckling off among the horses.

Ten minutes later the boy appeared again, and, going up to the other Englishman, offered another handful of rubbish among which was the same rare Hieropolitan coin. The gentleman kept the bronze in his hand and offered a half dollar for it, which the boy refused, though the bargain was eventually concluded for a dollar.

Then the gentleman, in high glee, handed his companion and, showing his purchase, informed him that he was not the only man who possessed a coin of Hierapolis.

"Let us compare," said the other,
emptying the pocket where his bronze
was jingling.

He sorted the lot and felt in every pocket. No coin of Hierapolis was there.
To this day three questions remain unanswered:

How did the boy retain the coin in the first instance in order to sell it over again?

How, in that remote region, far from the haunts of travelers, did he know the value of his find?

And to which purchaser did the coin really belong?—Youth's Companion.

His Sweet Voice.

The best of men are at times liable to make very serious mistakes. A man in a Leicestershire village woke in the night and heard what he supposed to be the harsh grating of a saw on a hard board and at once jumped to the conclusion that some bold, bad burglar was sawing a hole in the front door.

He slipped out of bed, glided like a specter into the hall and again listened and this time became fully satisfied that his first suspicions were correct.

Seizing his trusty gun, he poured a handful of powder and ditto of shot into each barrel, capped it and, softly raising an up stairs window, blazed away in the darkness, the shot being followed by a howl of pain from below.

He then hurriedly drew on a few of his most necessary garments and went to investigate the matter, and upon the first step found the wounded form of a neighboring youth, who, in feeble tones, explained that he had come over to see-
made his sweetheart, the old man's only daughter, with a song and that when he was shot he was driving ahead as best he could on "Sweet Spirit, Hear My Prayer."

He expressed no surprise at the old man's mistake, but thinks that he might have at least yelled "Who's there?" before he pulled the trigger, but the shooter said he was somewhat excited and just a little scared, so didn't stop to think.—Pearson's Weekly.

The Gillie's Excuse.

It is well known that the queen has a dislike to the smell of tobacco, and even such a constant smoker as the Prince of Wales is careful to deodorize himself as much as possible before being received by his royal mother. Perhaps the late John Brown told her majesty's aversion more coolly than any one else, for his sporan was always crammed with a mixture peculiarly black and strong.

On one occasion the late Duke of Sutherland sent some live deer to Windsor under the charge of his head keeper,
who, having seen his charges safely housed, foregathered with Brown, and smoke and whisky speedily combined in no small quantities. While the carouse was progressing John was hastily summoned to the queen's presence, and away he went without changing his clothes. His sovereign lady soon detected the peccant odor and reproached Brown with it.

"Heck! Your majesty," said Brown,
"it's nae my fault. It's joost 'contact' with the duke's keeper." He was forgiven on the spot.—London Telegraph.

Queer Language.

The Saturday Review says that when he was in Egypt Mark Twain hired two Arab guides to take him to the pyramids. He was familiar enough with Arabic, he thought, to understand and be understood with perfect ease. To his consternation he found that he could not comprehend a word that either of the guides uttered. At the pyramids he met a friend, to whom he made known his dilemma. It was very mysterious, Twain thought. "Why, the explanation is simple enough," said the friend.
"Please enlighten me, then," said Twain. "Why, you should have hired younger men. These old fellows have lost their teeth, and, of course, they don't speak Arabic. They speak gum-Arabic."
